

ΑΡ. ΤΑΥΤ. : ΑΡ. ΥΠΟΨ. :

ΕΠΩΝΥΜΟ:

ΟΝΟΜΑ:

ΕΞΕΤΑΣΤ. ΚΕΝΤΡΟ:.....

ΥΠΟΥΡΓΕΙΟ ΠΑΙΔΕΙΑΣ ΚΑΙ ΠΟΛΙΤΙΣΜΟΥ

ΠΑΓΚΥΠΡΙΕΣ ΕΞΕΤΑΣΕΙΣ 2011

ΔΟΚΙΜΙΟ ΑΚΡΟΑΣΗΣ – ΚΑΤΑΝΟΗΣΗΣ

Μάθημα: ΑΓΓΛΙΚΑ
Ημερομηνία: 8 Ιουνίου 2011

Το εξεταστικό δοκίμιο Ακρόασης- Κατανόησης αποτελείται από δύο (2) σελίδες

Food Around the World

(You are going to listen to Maria talking about various kinds of food from around the world)

SECTION ONE

Reporter: Good morning Maria. Welcome to the studio. Today we are going to talk about various types of food from around the world.

Maria: Yes, we are going to talk about Mexican, Scottish and Hungarian food.

Reporter: Ok, let's take Mexican food first. Which is the most popular dish?

Maria: Well... enchiladas is one of the most popular dishes in Mexico.

Reporter: Enchiladas, how do you make them?

Maria: To make enchiladas Mexicans use tortillas, a kind of flat bread. Inside they put meat, cheese, sour cream, vegetables and of course, hot chilli peppers!

Reporter: Anything else?

Maria: Yes... on top of this delicious dish, Mexicans add 'salsa', which means sauce in Spanish. Some of the most common sauces are 'salsa verde', a green sauce with green chilli peppers; 'suizas', a sauce with milk, and finally, a traditional recipe with dried red peppers, nuts and chocolate.

SECTION TWO

Reporter: Oh, this is wonderful. How about Scottish food?

Maria: Scotland's most famous dish is haggis.

Reporter: Haggis... How does it look like?

Maria: It looks like a large, round sausage and it consists of parts of a sheep, cooked in its stomach, along with vegetables, herbs and spices.

Reporter: Do people like it much?

Maria: Scottish people love haggis, and you can find it in restaurants in Scotland and around the world.

Reporter: Do they eat it on special days?

Maria: Yes... every January, Scottish people celebrate the birthday of the famous Scottish poet, Robert Burns, by eating haggis.

Reporter: Oh, this is nice. But what about the Hungarians?

SECTION THREE

Maria: The Hungarians... Well... most traditional Hungarian dishes are famous for their spicy flavour, because Hungarians love to use paprika when cooking.

Reporter: Ok... but what is the most popular Hungarian dish?

Maria: One of Hungary's most popular dishes is goulash. It's a kind of soup.

Reporter: What ingredients does this soup include?

Maria: Well... it includes a variety of ingredients, like beef, potatoes, onions and tomatoes.

Reporter: And how does the soup taste?

Maria: This soup has a very special taste, because of the spices and herbs that are used, like paprika and other seeds.

Reporter: Do they also eat it on special days?

Maria: Well... not on a special day but goulash is perfect for a cold night!

Reporter: That sounds interesting! Thank you Maria for today. We hope to see you soon.

Maria: Thank you!

Food Around the World

(You are going to listen to Maria talking about various kinds of food from around the world.)

Do PART A: Exercises I & II.

PART A:

(5 MARKS)

I. Enchiladas or Haggis? Tick (✓) the correct answer. (5 x 0,5 = 2,5 marks)

	Enchiladas	Haggis
1. bread
2. eggs
3. cheese
4. peppers
5. cinnamon
6. herbs
7. spices

II. Yes or No? Tick (✓) the correct answer.

(5 x 0,5 = 2,5 marks)

	YES	NO
1. The Hungarians enjoy spicy food.
2. The Hungarians love to use a lot of salt.
3. Goulash is a kind of soup.
4. Pork is used in goulash.
5. The Hungarians eat goulash only in hot weather.

Second Listening: The second listening will be in three sections.
Follow the instructions for each section.

PART B:

(7 MARKS)

- Listen to SECTION ONE and do Exercise I.

I. Choose the best answer a, b or c. (4 x 0,5 = 2 marks)

1. Maria first talks about food.
a. Mexican b. Scottish c. Hungarian
2. Mexicans use a kind of bread for enchiladas.
a. round b. rolled c. flat
3. 'Salsa' means in Spanish.
a. cream b. sauce c. juice
4. Mexicans use dried red peppers, nuts and chocolate which is a recipe.
a. traditional b. simple c. modern

- Listen to SECTION TWO and do Exercise II.

II. Use only ONE word to complete the text. (6 x 0,5 = 3 marks)

Scotland's most famous dish is haggis. It looks like a large, round 1..... . It consists of parts of a sheep 2..... in its stomach, 3....., herbs and 4..... . People like it much and eat it on special 5....., when they celebrate the birthday of the 6..... Scottish poet, Robert Burns.

- Listen to SECTION THREE and do Exercise III.

III. Answer the following questions. Use short answers. (4 x 0,5 = 2 marks)

1. What do the Hungarians love to use when they cook?
.....
2. Does the soup include onions?
.....
3. How does the soup taste?
.....
4. When is goulash perfect?
.....

PART C:

(16 x 0,5 = 8 MARKS)

Use only ONE word to complete the passage.

Maria is talking to a reporter about various kinds of food from around the world. First she speaks about Mexican 1....., enchiladas. This is one of the most popular dishes in Mexico. To 2..... enchiladas, Mexicans use tortillas, a kind of flat bread and they put inside 3....., cheese, sour cream, vegetables, and 4..... chilli peppers. On top of this they 5..... 'salsa', which means sauce in Spanish. Some of the most common sauces are 'salsa verde', a kind of a 6..... sauce with green chilli peppers; 'suizas' a sauce with milk, and finally a traditional recipe with dried red peppers, 7..... and chocolate.

Scotland's most famous dish is haggis. It looks like a large, round sausage. It consists of parts of a sheep, cooked in its stomach, along with vegetables, herbs and spices. People love it and you can find it in 8..... in Scotland and around the world. They eat it on 9..... days, every January, when they celebrate the birthday of the famous Scottish poet, Robert Burns.

Most traditional Hungarian dishes are famous for their spicy 10....., because Hungarians love to use paprika when 11..... . One of the most popular dishes is goulash. It's a kind of 12..... . The soup includes a variety of 13..... such as beef, potatoes, onions and 14..... . It has a special 15....., because of the spices and herbs that are used like paprika and other 16..... . Hungarians prefer goulash on a cold night.